

Astorg Announces Four New Senior Hires

Luxembourg/London/Paris, 22nd January 2024 – Astorg, a leading Pan European private equity firm, today announced four new senior hires to support the growth and development of its business:

- Tobias Nordblom, Managing Director, Flagship
- Alexandre Dussaucy, Managing Director, Investor Relations
- Corinne Schreiber, Managing Director, Investor Relations
- Valérie Legat, Managing Director, Head of Digital

Thierry Timsit, CEO of Astorg, commented: “We are delighted to welcome four new outstanding professionals as we pursue our growth and development plan. Tobias, Alexandre, Corinne and Valérie impersonate the key values that unite our team: entrepreneurship, humility, fairness and substance. They all bring deep industry knowledge across their areas of expertise and will contribute to drive our business forward: unlocking new opportunities and, fostering value creation through innovation, while we relentlessly strive for excellence in client services”.

Tobias Nordblom, Managing Director, Flagship, joined Astorg’s healthcare team in December and is primarily responsible for covering Med-tech and Med-tech services. Tobias is a Swedish national, he was formerly at Keensight Capital where he was Director in the healthcare team. Prior to this, he worked at Bain Capital and Morgan Stanley with a primary focus on healthcare. Tobias holds a Master of Science in Applied Economics & Finance from Copenhagen Business School and dual Bachelor of Science in Corporate Finance & Financial Economics respectively from Lund University.

Alexandre Dussaucy, Managing Director, Investor Relations, joined Astorg in December and is primarily responsible for covering institutional investors in France, Benelux, and the Middle East. Alexandre is a French national, with over 20 years of experience in investor engagement, his last role being Head of Sales for Francophone Europe, the Netherlands, and the Middle East, at Allspring Global Investments, and its predecessor firm, Wells Fargo Asset Management. Alexandre previously held similar positions at Markov Processes International (MPI) and Advanced Fund Analysis, having started his career at Ernst & Young Consulting. Alexandre holds a Master of Science in Finance & Economics from EDHEC Business School.

Corinne Schreiber, Managing Director, Investor Relations, will join Astorg in March 2024 and will be primarily responsible for covering institutional investors in the DACH region and in the Nordics. Corinne is Belgian and German national, she has over 14 years of experience, and is joining from Pantheon Ventures where she was a Principal in the Investor Relations team covering the DACH region. Prior to her role at Pantheon, she spent 6 years at each of BlueBay Asset Management and PIMCO in similar roles. Corinne holds a Master’s degree in Business Law from Université Paris 1 Panthéon-Sorbonne.

These two new additions, along with the appointment, a year ago, of Joséphine Loréal as Managing Director with primary responsibility to lead our engagement with third-party distributors and to cover family offices and selected institutional investors in Francophone Europe, and more recently the appointments of Reinard Volschenk, as Managing Director primarily responsible for project management, product development, and co-investments, and Samia Hadj, as Head of Corporate Communications – represent a significant expansion of our resources dedicated to client engagement.

“Delivering on our value proposition for our stakeholders and providing best in class execution and services to all our investors across the globe are some of our key priorities. We are pleased to continue to build-up our team with new talents who will help us to fulfil our mission”, said Jean Raby, Partner, Head of Business Development and Client Engagement at Astorg.

Valérie Legat, Managing Director, Head of Digital, joined Astorg earlier this month. Her main responsibility is to spearhead the digital transformation initiatives for Astorg and its portfolio companies, closely collaborating with the heads of business lines. Her prior role was at Carrefour Group, where she established their first Digital Factory covering Ecommerce, Stores, and Financial services, along with launching and leading the group CX and Analytics practice. Before Carrefour, she founded Business Lab, a digital agency that became McKinsey & Company's exclusive partner in France. At the firm, she was an Expert Associate Partner, and co-leader of McKinsey Digital Labs. Valérie holds a Master's in Management from Skema and, she is a French and US national.
